About the keynote speaker

Martijn Cremers is the Martin J. Gillen Dean and Bernard J. Hank Professor of Finance at the Mendoza College of Business, University of Notre Dame. He is a leading authority in asset management and corporate governance. His work has had a profound impact on both academic research and industry practice, most notably through the development of the “Active Share” measure, which has become a cornerstone in the evaluation of active portfolio management worldwide.

Professor Cremers has published in the top finance journals, including the Journal of Finance, Review of Financial Studies, and Journal of Financial Economics. His research is widely cited and has shaped the academic and policy debate on institutional investors, stewardship, and long-term value creation. His contributions have also had a significant influence on industry practice, with Active Share being incorporated into major platforms such as Morningstar Direct and FactSet.
